Providing the best care

Kevin and Rebecca are new foster parents who currently have one placement. Although being new to fostering, the family has acclimated well. Kevin and Rebecca have gone above and beyond for their foster child.

Since being placed in the home, the child has flourished not only physically but also developmentally. He continues to gain weight and grow, is thriving in day care and is learning sign language with his foster parents. The foster family has in home services to help provide the best care and takes time off work twice a week to transport the child to his parenting time. They also attend numerous doctors appointments each month and do so without complaint.

Kevin and Rebecca are extremely organized. Rebecca continues to update the child's life book for his birth parents, making sure she writes something in it every day. The family truly cares for this child as if he was their own. They attend every court hearing to stay informed on the progress of case. They look forward to being a positive example to their foster child and hope to create memories that he will carry with him throughout his life.
